THE WATCHMAN vs. THE WATCHMAN.

Our article last week criticising the Watchman's exaltation of its editor, appears to have cut to the bone and aroused all the animosity and vindictiveness of its rebel sympathisers. In one article the editor says, in speaking of the REPUBLICAN, "It delights in making loose and absurd charges, for which it hasn't the shadow of foundation; but it never has had the independence or the manliness to give an opponent credit for a praise-worthy action. Nay, more, so bitter is its hatred of the present member from this county," &c., &c. Now we think the Watchman is the last paper that should talk about "independence" or "manliness" and should, we think, be very careful how it charges us with having a bitter hatred against our member—P. G. Meek. We have no such hatred. On the other hand we think we like Meek. We do not love him it is true, we do not admire him much: but we like him. We like him because of his pluck. No Banty rooster was ever pluckier. We like him because he makes John H. Orvis, C. T. Alexander, Gen. Wm. H. Blair, H. Y. Stitzer, Capt. Hunter, Fred Kurtz and all the other leaders, and aspirants to office, bow down before him and acknowledge that he and Burns are superior to them—that he is in fact their master, that they must obey him, and follow him, or let the Democratic party go to the devil. Has he not said so a thousand times? He wants to go back to the Legislature. He will go of course. We therefore like him because it does not suit us to fight our public servants, especially such fellows as Meek, who has it all his own way and the leaders of his party all at his feet, like whipped spanials. Hate Meek! We do not hate him. If the Democratic leaders can endure, admire and love him, why should we complain? We are living in a minority county what can we say? And did not a few of our Republicans vote for Meek last fall? They may be sorry for it now, but have we any right to find fault with them or their independent action? We confess we cannot see it, yet we like Meek. Did he not, when nearly all the other leaders of his party were playing hypocrite and professing to be in favor of the war, the draft, and all other measures for the speedy suppression of the slave-holders rebellion, stand right up for the rebel cause, for Gen. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, J. C. Breckinridge et id omnia genus? Did he not advise men to die upon their own door steps rather than to go into "Abe Lincoln's slaughter pens?" Did not a majority of the rebel Democrats and weak-kneed Republicans send him to the Legislature three different sessions notwithstanding his toryism, his treason, his bitter burning hate against his Government? Certainly they did. We say it to their shame, yet why should we hate Meek? We repeat we do not hate him, but rather like him.

Has he not been in the Legislature three times on a salary of $1,000 each year? Has he not built a three story brick house with a hall in it? And has he not recently purchased the fine residence near the Bellefonte depot formerly owned by Saml Gilliland Esq?

Now we do not say he steals or robs, or gets money dishonestly; but we do say we like him; because if he does steal, he hides it so well, and then like any other sharp rogue, joins in the "stop thief" cry. But the Watchman does not believe that we like Meek and goes on to say.

"As for his (our) charges that the "present member from this county is "exalting himself for the purpose of "securing his own re-election—that he "is the tool of Burns & Co.,—that he is "fattening off the State, &c., &c., &c., "they dont amount to anything. Were "they really true the fact that they came "from BROWN would be their greatest "weakness and lead all honest people "at once to suspect them to be mere in-"ventions. Besides a man who has "been a defaulting office holder and the "swindler of an honest and confiding "people, is the last man in the world to "prate about dishonesty."

Now we would not half so soon doubt the honesty of Meek, if he would play fair. If he would meet argument with argument; but this he never does. Whenever we fire hot shot into him, in the shape of truths and arguments which he cannot answer or gainsay he immediately attempts to destroy our influence, and the force of our logic by crying out, "Stop thief" "Treasurer robber," "Defaulter," "Swindler" &c. We could talk very fluently about some Democratic defaulters, in a manner that would bring it very near home to the "Watchman" office; but we forbear. We shall content ourself by publishing the only truth, which we ever remember of having seen in the "Watchman." We take it from the "Watchman" of September 28th 1866. It reads as follows:

THE LATE TREASURER AND HIS BAIL—COL. BROWN VINDICATED!—We take great pleasure in publishing the following card from the securities of Col. W. W. Brown, late Treasurer of this county. It will be seen that they completely exonerate Col. Brown from all complicity in any fraud whatever, and state that the misapprehension in regard to his account arose entirely from the fact that he was absent in the army at the time the balance was struck against him by the county auditors, by which it happened that some large credits in his favor were not taken into account. We are heartliy glad to be able to chronicle the fact that Col. Brown now stands before the world a vindicated and an honorable man in all respects, and are only too sorry that owing to circumstances beyond his control, he was not able sooner to make the evidence of his official integrity clear and incontrovertibe. However, "time at last makes all things even," and the injustice done to Col. Brown will now become palpable to everybody. That he has suffered from this injustice is undeniable, and it behooves a generous public to make up to him in future confidence what it has deprived him of by unjust strictures in the past. With this burden off his shoulders Col. Brown will be himself again, and will speedily rise to that honorable position in life for which his moral and intellectual abilities eminently fit him. He has our best wishes for his success. The following is the card of exoneration given by the gentlemen on his bail bond:

BELLEFONTE, Aug. 31, 1866.

We, the undersigned sureties of W. W. Brown, late Treasurer of Centre county, do certify, that on the final settlement of his account as Treasurer of said county with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we had the satisfaction to find that instead of being liable upon our bond as sureties there was a surplus of several hundred dollars overpaid. The result has entirely satisfied us that the whole misapprehension in the matter is due to the fact that Col. Brown was absent with his Regiment in the field at the time the balance was struck against him by the County Auditors, by which it happened that some large credits to which he was entitled were not taken into account which oversight was rectified as soon as he could give the matter his personal attention.

We esteem it not only a privilege, but a duty we owe to Col. Brown to make this statement; his whole course during the transaction showing him to be a high minded and honorable gentleman, and as such, worthy of the confidence of his old friends as well as of any community in which he may make his home.

"BERKS county has no debt. Neither has Centre. Both are Democratic. This makes comment unnecessary."—Watchman.

Here is another "honest leader in an honest Democratic paper," which out-Herod's Tom Pepper. This very Watchman but a short time since, published the Receipts and Expenditures of the county. In those columns, in those figures as published in that paper, it will be seen that Centre county is indebted over $30,000. How is this, Joe? Have the Commissioners' and Watchman's defaulting collectors forked up, since then, to help pay off the county indebtedness?—When? And where? And how? And if true, why are the Commissioners collecting such oppressive taxes off the people? Oh! ye Watchman editors—there is a day of retribution coming for you—a day when it is said in the good Book, that all "liars shall have their portion in a lake," &c. But the editor says, "Don't let anybody look for anything funny to-day," and in the same connection declares Centre county has no debt. That is funny enough, as well as false.

THE Cambria Freemen, in referring to the Local Option bill, speaks as follows;

The motion of Mr. Ousterhout, [to discharge the committee and consider the bill,] was defeated by 17 Democratic Senators voting against it, while 16 Radical Senators, always as an inevitable, foregone conclusion, voted for it.—* * * Our opinion is that a Democratic Senate ought never permit it to become a law.

And still we have, here and there, all over the State, half-witted Republicans who want a third party, on a distinctive Temperance platform!—Blair County Radical.

SPRING PROSPECTS.

Business opens this spring, says an exchange, with a much more promising aspect than it did a year ago. There is a more general feeling of security and confidence. Our national finances are in a better condition, taxes are lighter, our credit is stronger, and there is less tendency to speculative investments. We are getting more nearly down to the stable level of healthy business before the war. Business men from all sections of the country have been for some time making their purchases in our larger cities and preparing for the coming season's operations. The representation is general, and although their purchases are not quite so heavy as during the last few years, the indications are that at least an average business will be done on a safe basis. Prospects may not be so large, but risks will be less, and business will be healthy.

Such is the condition which we have at last reached under the good management of President Grant's administration. The approach has been gradual, and at times our people have been inclined to complain because stability did not come sooner. But, when they reflect, they will see that the transition from a speculative state of business produced by a tremendous civil war, to a sound and trustworthy one, has been very rapid. Less than six years is but a short time in which to get rid of the principal financial evils of such a contest as that from which we are now recovering. They could not have been safely overcome in a shorter time, and to have attempted a more rapid change from speculative to real prices would have produced most disastrous consequences.

Money is now easy, and there is nothing which looks like an approaching crisis—such as the democrats have long prophesied and fondly wished. It is probable that the demand for money with which to make the usual spring settlement, may produce a little stringency. But there will be nothing which it will not be within the power of the treasury to remedy by the increased purchase of bonds, if needed. After this point is passed, there will be no extra demand for money until the fall crops are ready to move.

Contrary to expectation, neither the opening nor close of the European war has caused an extra demand for American grain, and the hitherto speculative movement is subsiding. The truth is, that we must stop depending upon a foreign market for our grain and turn our attention more to manufacturing and less to grain raising, which is so rapidly exhausting our best soils. But, if there is no extra demand for grain, our shipments of cotton bid fair to be considerably increased. The German market especially demands an increased supply of cotton. Our exports of this staple having for some time been light, but the advance in price has made our money receipts from this source quite up to the full average.

The new loan appears to open favorably, and bids fair to be largely taken in Great Britain, where our longer five twenties are now worth 92 to 92½—fully equal to 69 in gold in New York city, and but a fraction, if any, below the quotations of English consols. In the present condition of France, we can not expect much from her, either financially or commercially. The prospect in Germany is better; but in neither of these countries can we expect to place a tithe of the new bonds which we could have done, especially among the middling classes, had it not been for the unfortunate war which has left its scars upon both nations, and France in a state of anarchy and painful uncertainty.

Certainly, no business man, who looks calmly and without bias over the financial and commercial condition and prospects of our country, can conscientiously say that the policy of President Grant's administration has not proved successful and satisfactory. It has wrought no miracles—unless it be in demonstrating the perfect manageableness of the public debt, no part of which the democrats said could be paid, while a large portion of them favored its repudiation—but it has reached practical results in a plain, common sense, business-like way, and placed the finances and business of the country where an easy solution of all difficulties is possible and likely to soon be realized.

THE TAX ON TEA AND COFFEE.

The climate of the United States is not favorable to the production of either tea or coffee; consequently, neither is raised here and we import all we use. During the war, when the necessities of the nation required it, taxes were laid on both tea and coffee. Now that the necessity has passed it is proposed to repeal the duty on tea and coffee and thus cheapen these necessities on every poor man's table. It is and always has been the policy of protection to admit free all the necessaries of life which we can not produce, and to lay import duties upon such articles of necessity or luxury as we can produce or manufacture ourselves. In accordance with this policy Congress proposed to abolish the duties on tea and coffee, be cause we cannot produce them and it is the policy of wisdom and common sense to buy them as cheaply as possible. The whole pack of free-traders immediately rose in opposition to the repeal, and the Free Trade League of New York at once got up a petition and forwarded it to Washington in opposition to the repeal of the onerous duties on tea and coffee.—Meyers' Harrisburg paper, the Patriot, in its Washington news of March 22d, thus reports it:

"Senator Trumbull presented in the Senate to day a remonstrance signed by Robert B. Mintburn, President of the Free-Trade League of New York, and William C. Bryant. Chairman of the General Council, against the passage of the house bill repealing the duties on tea and coffee. Among other statements set forth in this paper is the following:

'The American Free-Trade League respectfully remonstrate against the repeal of the duties on tea and coffee, and would represent to your honorable body that such repeal would deprive the government of over $13,000,000 of revenue, and therefore render difficult the repeal of other far more burdensome duties, which yield but little revenue to the government at a very much heavier cost to the people, that the true object of revenue reform is not to repeal duties which are levied for revenue, and under which all the money taken from the people is received by the government and contributed to pay those expenses, which the people must in some form bear, but to reform the tariff so as to repeal those duties which yield little revenue and tax the people heavily to support favored monopolies."

Here are $13,000,000 tax laid upon the people, rich and poor alike, for articles they can never produce themselves, and are therefore compelled to buy from abroad or do without. No citizen of the United States can derive one penny's worth of benefit from this tax yet the whole free-trade party (the Democratic) oppose its repeal because they say it will prevent the repeal of duties on favored monopolies. What are these so-called monopolies? A couple weeks ago the whole free-trade delegation in Congress voted for the repeal of the duty on coal. They regard coal as a monopoly. Yet we produce coal all over the United States and there is no more of a monopoly of it than of sunshine. On the contrary, the mining of coal, which these free-traders would partially stop by repeal of the duty on it, gives constant employment to hundreds of thousands of our citizens at highly remunerative wages.

These same free-traders raise this false cry of monopoly against the iron manufacture; though it is carried on from the Atlantic to the Pacific and in almost every State in the Union. It also gives employment to hundreds of thousands and even millions of our people. So it is with every manufacturing and mining interest of the country. These free-traders are the representatives and paid agents of foreign manufactures among us, because they interfere with the sale of the manufactured products of their British masters. We showed last week from the official figures that we had cheaper coal under a protective tariff than when coal was free—the same can be proven of iron, steel and copper—when these British free-traders can show any way by which the tax on tea and coffee make them cheaper they will have a reasonable excuse for opposing the repeal of the duty on tea and coffee? Until then, they and the Democratic party they represent, must stand as the enemies of the poor man, who tax his tea and coffee without the shadow of an excuse.—Bedford Inquirer.

SAN DOMINGO.

Message of President Grant Transmitting the Report of the Commission.

[By Telegraph to the Press.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The following is the President's message, transmitting the report of the San Domingo Commissioners:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit herewith to the two houses of Congress the report of the commissioners appointed in pursuance of the joint resolution approved January 12, 1871. It will be observed that this report more than sustains all that I have heretofore said in regard to the productiveness and healthfulness of the Republic of San Domingo, of the unanimity of the people for annexation to the United States, and of their peaceable character. It is due to the public, as it certainly is to myself, that I should give all the circumstances which first led to the negotiation of a treaty for the annexation of the Republic of San Domingo to the United States.

When I accepted the arduous and responsible position which I now hold, I did not dream of instituting any steps for the acquisition of insular possessions. I believed, however, that our institutions were broad enough to extend over the entire continent as rapidly as other peoples might desire to bring themselves under our protection. I believed, further, that we should not permit independent governments within the limits of North America to pass from a condition of independence to one of ownership or protection under an European power. Soon after my inauguration as President I was waited upon by an agent of President Baez with a proposition to annex the Republic of San Domingo to the United States.

This gentleman represented the capacity of the island, the desire of the people, and their character and habits, about as they have been described by the commissioners, whose report accompanies this message. He stated further that, being weak in numbers and poor in purse, they were not capable of developing their great resources; that the people had no incentive to industry on account of the lack of protection for their accumulations, and that if not accepted by the United States, with the institutions which thay loved above those of any other nation, they would be compelled to seek protection elsewhere. To these statements I made no reply, and gave no indication of what I thought of the proposition. In the course of time I was waited upon by a second gentleman from San Domingo, who made the same representation, and who was received in like manner.

In view of the facts which had been laid before me, and with an earnest desire to maintain the "Monroe doctrine," I believed I would be derelict in my duty if I did not take measures to ascertain the exact wish of the government and inhabitants of the Republic of San Domingo in regard to annexation, and communicate the information to the people of the United States. Under the attending circumstances I felt that if I turned a deaf ear to this appeal I might in the future be justly charged with a flagrant neglect of the public interests and an utter disregard of the welfare of a down-trodden race praying for the blessings of a free and strong government, and for protection in the enjoyment of the fruits of their own industry. Those opponents of annexation who have heretofore professed to be pre-eminently the friends of the rights man I believed would be my most violent assailants if I neglected so clear a duty.

Accordingly, after having appointed a commissioner to visit the island, who declined on account of sickness, I selected a second gentleman in whose capacity, judgment, and integrity I had unbounded confidence. He visited San Domingo, not to secure or hasten annexation, but, unprejudiced and unbiased, to learn all the facts about the government, the people, and the resources of that Republic. He went certainly as well prepared to make an unfavorable report as a favorable one if the facts warranted it. His report fully corroborated the view of the previous commissioners, and upon its receipt I felt that a sense of duty and a due regard for our great national interests required me to negotiate a treaty for the acquisition of the Republic of San Domingo.

As soon as it became publicly known that such a treaty had been negotiated, the attention of the country was occupied with allegations calculated to prejudice the merits of the case, and with aspersions upon those whose duty had connected them with it. Amidst the public excitement thus created the treaty failed to receive the required two-thirds vote of the Senate and was rejected, but whether the action of that body was based wholly upon the merits of the treaty, or might not have been in some degree influenced by such unfounded allegations could not be known by the people, because the debates of the Senate in secret session are not published. Under these circumstances I deemed it due to the office which I hold, and due to the character of the agents who had been charged with the investigation, that such proceedings should be had as would make the people to know the truth.

A commission was therefore constituted under the authority of Congress, consisting of gentlemen selected with special reference to their high character and capacity for the laborious work entrusted to them, who were instructed to visit the spot and report upon the facts. Other eminent citizens were requested to accompany the commission in order that the people might have the benefit of their views. Students of science and correspondents of the press, without regard to political opinions, were invited to join the expedition, and their number was limited only by the capacity of the vessel.

The mere rejection by the Senate of a treaty negotiated by the President only indicates a difference of opinion between two co-ordinate departments of the Government without touching the character or wounding the pride of either. But when such rejection takes place simultaneously with charges openly made of corruption on the part of the President or of those employed by him, the case is different. Indeed, in such case the honor of the nation demands investigation. This has been accomplished by the report of the commissioners herewith transmitted, and which fully vindicates the purity of motives and action of those who represented the United States in the negotiation.

And now my task is finished, and with it ends all personal solicitude upon the subject. My duty being done, yours begins; and I gladly hand over the whole matter to the judgment of the American people and of their Representatives in Congress assembled. The facts will now be spread before the country, and a decision rendered by that tribunal whose convictions so seldom err, and against whose will I have no policy to enforce. My opinion remains unchanged. Indeed, it is confirmed by the report that the interests of our country and of San Domingo alike invite the annexation of that Republic.

In view of the difference of opinion upon this subject I suggest that no action be taken at the present session beyond the printing and general dissemination of the report. Before the next session of Congress the people will have considered the subject, and formed an intelligent opinion concerning it, to which opinion, deliberately made up, it will be the duty of every department of the Government to give heed, and no one will more cheerfully conform to it than myself. It is not only the theory of our Constitution that the will of the people, constitutionally expressed, is the supreme law, but I have ever believed that all men are wiser than any one man, and if the people, upon a full presentation of the facts, shall decide that the annexation of the Republic is not desirable, every department of the Government ought to acquiesce in that decision. In again submitting to Congress a subject upon which public sentiment has been divided, and which has been made the occasion of acrimonious debates in Congress, as well as of unjust aspersions elsewhere. I may, I think, be indulged in a single remark: No man can hope to perform duties so delicate and responsible as pertain to the Presidential office, without sometimes incurring the hostility of those who deem their opinions and wishes treated with insufficient consideration, and he who undertakes to conduct the affairs of a great Government as a faithful public servant, if sustained by the approval of his conscience, may rely with confidence upon the candor and intelligence of a free people, whose best interests he has studied to subserve, and can bear with patience the censure of disappointed men. U. S. GRANT.

OUT ON THE WORLD!

BY E. S. MABELE.

Alone am I in this world of sin,
Not even a kind friend's care—
None to advise a helpless girl—
Misery—want—my share.
What can I do? my mother dead,
My father killed in the war;
No brother, no sister, alone in the streets,
Begging from door to door.

Not long ago, with a roof o'er my head,
There was one, oh! to me, so dear—
Now I'm an outcast, penniless, too,
To see me he seems to have fear.
The sweet words of love he'd pour in my ear
I thought I could never repay—
Look at me now—but still I'll not curse,
But he brought me to this, I may say.

No longer for bread could I ask at each house;
No longer to beg or starve in the cold;
No longer to lead such a life of despair,
I sold then my body and soul for gold.
Winter has come—alas! he's another's,
And I oftentimes pass by his door;
When they sit of a night, by his fire's bright light,
My heart bleeds to see it the more.

That is my place, and my home by right,
For I loved him, God knows, with devotion;
See how she presses those lips that were mine,
And seems then to watch every motion.
To-morrow is Christmas—last Christmas day
He sat by my side, as he's sitting there now,
And that very night—I ne'er shall forget—
He made to me then such a sweet, solemn vow.

"Lillie," he said, "when next Christmas comes
(And truth was in every feature)
You will then by my own darling wife;"
But instead I'm a broken down creature.
God forgive me to-night for the deed I shall do—
Sin, shame, and sorrow's my worth—
Offer a prayer for the heart broken wretch,
For to-night is my last on this earth.

To place 'neath the cold, solemn, sod;
To identify none can be found, so she lies
Awaiting her fate before God.

Dr. Franklin's Visit to his Mother.

Dr. Benjamin Franklin, after the decease of his father, returned to Boston, in order to pay his respects to his mother, who resided in that city. He had been absent some years, and at that period of life, when the greatest and most rapid alteration is made in the human appearance; at a time when the querulous voice of the strippling assumes the commanding tone of the adult, and the smiling features of the youth are succeeded by the strong lines of manhood. The Doctor was sensible such was the alteration of his person, that his mother could not know him, except by that instinct, which it is believed can cause a mother's heart to beat violently in the presence of a child, and point the maternal eye, with quick and sudden glance, to a beloved son.

To discover the existence of this instinct by actual experience, Franklin resolved to introduce himself, as a stranger, to his mother, and to watch narrowly, for the moment in which she should discover her son, and then to determine, with the cool precision of the philosopher, whether that discovery was the effect of that instinct of affection—that intuitive love—that innate attachment, which is conjectured to cement relatives of the same blood; and which, by according the passions of parent and child, like a well tuned viol, would, at the first touch, cause them to vibrate in unison, and at once evince that they were but different chords of the same instrument.

On a sullen, chilly day, in the month of January, in the afternoon, the Doctor knocked at his mother's door, and asked to speak with Mrs. Franklin. He found the old lady knitting before the parlor fire—introduced himself, by observing, that he had been informed, she entertained travellers, and requested a night's lodging.

She eyed him with that cold look of disapprobation which most people assume when they imagine themselves insulted, by being supposed to exercise an employment but one degree below their real occupation in life; assured him, that he had been misinformed—that she did not keep tavern; but that it was true, to oblige some members of the Legislature, she took a number of them into her family, during the session; that she then had four members of the Council, and six of the House of Representatives, who boarded with her—all the beds were full; and then betook herself to her knitting with that intense application which expressed as forcibly as action could do, if you have concluded your business, the sooner you leave the house the better. But upon the Doctor's wrapping his coat around him, affecting to shiver with cold, and observing it was very chilly weather, she pointed to a chair, and gave him leave to warm himself.

The entrance of her boarders precluded all further conversation—coffee was soon served, and the Doctor partook with the family. To the coffee, according to the good old custom of the times, succeeded a plate of pipptns, pipes, and a paper of M'Intire's best, when the whole family formed a cheerful smoking semicircle before the fire. Perhaps no man ever possessed the colloquial powers to a more fascinating degree, than Dr. Franklin; and never was there an occasion when he displayed those powers to greater advantage, than at this time. He drew the attention of the company by the solidity of modest remark—instructed them by the varied, new and striking lights, in which he placed his subject, and delighted them with apt and amusing anecdotes. Thus employed, the hour passed merrily along, until eight o'clock, when, punctual to a moment, Mrs. Franklin announced supper. Busied with her household affairs, she fancied the intruding stranger had quitted the house, immediately after coffee, and it was with difficulty she could restrain her resentment, when she saw him, without molestation, seat himself at the table with the freedom of a member of the family.

Immediately after supper, she called an elderly gentleman, a member of the Council in whom she was accustomed to confide, to another room—complained bitterly of the rudeness of the stranger—told the manner of his introduction to the house—observed that he appeared like an outlandish man; and, she thought, had something very suspicious in his appearance; concluding, by soliciting her friend's advice in respect to the way in which she could most easily rid herself of his presence. The old gentleman assured her, that the stranger was certainly a young man of education, and to all appearance a gentleman; that, perhaps, being in agreeable company, he had paid no attention to the lateness of the hour; and advised her to call him aside, and repeat her inability to lodge him. She accordingly sent her maid to him, and then, with as much temper as she could command, recapitulated the situation of her family; observed that it grew late, and mildly intimated, that he would do well to seek himself a lodging. The Doctor replied that he would, by no means, incommode her family; but that, wite her leave, he would smoke one pipe more with her boarders, and then retire.

He returned to the company, filled his pipe, and with the first whiff, his powers of converse returned with double force. He recounted the hardships—he extolled the piety and policy of their ancestors.—A gentleman present mentioned the subject of the day's debate in the House of Representatives. A bill had been introduced, to extend the prerogatives of the royal governor. The Doctor immediately entered upon the subject—supported the colonial rights with new and forcible arguments—was familiar with the names of the influential men in the House, when Dudley was governor—recited their speeches, and applauded the noble defence of the chamber of rights.

During a discourse so appropriately interesting to the company, no wonder the clock struck eleven unperceived by the delighted circle; nor was it wonderful that the patience of Mrs. Franklin grew quite exhausted. She now entered the room, and before the whole company, with much warmth, addressed the Doctor; told him plainly, she thought herself imposed on; observed, that it was true, she was a lone woman, but that she had friends who would protect her, and concluded by insisting on his leaving the house. The Doctor made a slight apology, deliberately put on his great coat and hat, took a polite leave of the company, and approached the street door, lighted by the maid and attended by the mistress. While the Doctor and his companions had been enjoying themselves within, a most tremendous snow-storm had, without, filled the street knee deep—and no sooner had the maid lifted up the latch, than a roaring northeaster forced open the door, extinguished the light, and almost filled the entry with drifted snow and hail. As soon as the candle was re-lighted, the Doctor cast a woeful look towards the door, and thus addressed his mother, "My dear madam, can you turn me out of your house in this dreadful storm? I am a stranger in this town, and shall certainly perish in the streets. You look like a charitable lady; I shouldn't think you could turn a dog from your door on this tempestuous night."

"Don't tell me of charity," said the offended matron, "charity begins at home. It is your own fault you tarried so long. To be plain with you, sir, I do not like your looks, or your conduct—and I fear you have some bad designs in thus introducing yourself to my family."

The warmth of this parley had drawn the company from the parlor, and by their united interference, the stranger was permitted to lodge in the house; and as no bed could be had, he consented to repose on an easy chair before the parlor fire. Although her boarders appeared to confide, perfectly in the stranger's honesty, it was not so with Mrs. Franklin. With suspicious contour, she collected her silver spoons, pepper-box, and porringer, from her closet; and after securing the parlor door, by sticking a fork over the latch—carried the plate to her chamber—charged the negro man to sleep with his clothes on—to take the great clever to bed with him, and to waken and seize the vagrant at the first noise he maid in attempting to plunder the house. Having thus taken every precaution, she retired to bed with her maid, whom she compelled to sleep in her room.

Mrs. Franklin rose before the sun roused her domestics, unfastened the parlor door with timid caution, and was agreeably surprised, to find her guest quietly sleeping in the chair. A sudden transition from extreme mistrust to perfect confidence, was natural. She awakened him with a cheerful good morning; inquired how he had rested, and invited him to partake of her breakfast, which was always served previous to that of the boarders. "And pray, sir," said the old lady, as she supped her chocolate, "as you appear to be a stranger here, to what distant country do you belong?" "I, madam, I belong to the city of Philadelphia." At the mention of Philadelphia, the Doctor declared, he for the first time saw any emotion in her. "Philadelphia!" said she, and all the mother suffused her eye. "If you live in Philadelphia, perhaps you know our Ben." "Who, madam?" Why, Ben Franklin; my Ben: ah, he is the dearest child that ever blest a mother!" What," said the Doctor, "is Ben Franklin, the printer, your son? why he is my most intimate friend; he and I lodged in the same room." "Oh, God forgive me?" exclaimed the old lady, raising her watery eyes to heaven; "and have I suffered an acquaintance of my Benny's to sleep on the hard chair, while I, myself, rested on a good bed!"

How the Doctor discovered himself to his mother he has not informed us; but, from the above experiment, he was firmly convinced and was often afterwards heard to declare, that natural affection does not exist.—Copied from and old MSS.

Will He Succeed?

In nine cases out of ten, no man's life will be a success if he does not bear burdens in childhood. If the fondness or vanity of father or mother have kept them from hard work; if another always helped him out at the end of his row; if instead of taking his turn at pitching off, he mowed away all the time—in short, if what was light always fell to him, and what was heavy about the same work to some one else, if he has been permitted to shirk until shirking has become a habit unless a miracle is wrought, his life will be a failure, and the blame will not be half so much his as that of weak, foolish parents.

On the other hand, if a boy has been brought up to do his part, never allowed to shirk any legitimate responsibility, or to dodge work whether or not it made his heart ache, or soiled his hands—until bearing heavy burdens become a matter of pride, the heavy end of the wood his from choice, parents, as they bid him good-buy, may dismiss their fears. His life will not be a business failure. The elements of success are his, and at some time and in some way the world will recognize his capacity.

Take another point. Money is the object of the world's pursuit. It is a legitimate object. It gives bread and clothing and homes and comfort. The world has not judged wholly unwisely when it has made the position a man occupies to hinge comparatively more or less on his ability to earn money, and somewhat upon the amount of his possessions. If he is miserably poor it argues either some defect in his expenditures, or a lack of fitness to cope with men in the great battle for gold.

When a country bred boy leaves home it is generally to enter upon some business the end of which is to acquire property, and he will succeed just in proportion as he has been made to earn and save in his childhood.

If all the money he has had has come of planting a little patch in the spring, and selling its produce after weary months of watching and toil in the fall, or from killing woodchucks at six cents a head, or from trapping muskrats and selling their skins for a shilling; setting snares in the fall for game, and walking miles to see them in the morning before the old folks were up, husking corn for a neighbor moonlight evenings, at two cents a bushel; working out an occasional day that hard work at home has made possible—he is good to make his pile in the world.

On the contrary, if a boy never earned a dollar, if parents and friends always kept him in spending money—pennies to buy fish-hooks and satisfy his imagined wants—and has grown to manhood in the expectancy that the world will generally treat him with similar consideration, he will always be a make shift: and the fault is not so much his as that of those about him, who never made the boy depend upon himself—did not make him wait six months to get money to replace a lost jack-knife.

Every one has to rough it at one time or another. If the roughing comes in boyhood, it does good; if later, when habits are formed, it is equally tough, but not being educational, is generally useless. And the question whether a young man will succeed in making money or not depends not upon or where he goes or what he does, but upon his willingness to do "his part," and upon his having earned money, and so gained a knowledge of its worth. Not a little of this valuable experience and knowledge the country boy gets on the old farm, under the tutelage of parents shrewd enough to see the end from the beginning and to make the labor and grief of children contribute to the success of subsequent life.

A YOUNGSTER, while perusing a chapter in Genesis, turning to his mother inquired if the people in those days used to do sums on the ground. It was discovered that he had been reading the passage: "And the sons of men multiplied on the face of the earth."

THE ENAMELING OF WOMEN.

A CURIOUS AND INTERESTING DESCRIPTION OF HOW FASHIONABLE WOMEN ARE PAINTED AND PADDED IN NEW YORK—WHIMS AND FRIVOLITIES OF THE DAY.

NEW YORK FASHIONABLE WOMEN.

Our country readers, who live in all the simplicity of nature, and know no other adorning but that which their own beauty of form and face, in most instances, so amply confers upon them, will hardly believe that the fashionable women of New York ignore nature altogether, and rely exclusively upon art for their "make-up." They send, or did send, to Paris—until the war came and spoiled their marketings—for all the millinery and dressmaking which they put upon their persons, and cared nothing for the cost, provided only that the courtezans—who dictate the fashions to all the moneyed aristocracy of that city, and to codfishes generally throughout the world—should also set the fashion for them in the instances of the dresses and bonnets which they ordered and in which they designed to astonish society and its drawing-rooms.

PARIS COURTEZANS AND PARIS LADIES.

For it must be understood that Paris society is divided into two aristocracies, one of which we have already taken a glimpse of, viz: the aristocracy of wealth and licentiousness, and the other, which we now introduce as the genuine aristocracy of rank, manners and refinement. The ladies of the latter class dress in the plainest and simplest style, although of the richest and most costly materials, making a very distinct and decided contrast to the ladies of the world of fashion ruled over so supremely by the kept women of the court and the rich roues of the city. A real lady may be known at once, therefore by her dress, and so may the handsome queens, aforesaid by theirs. The one aims at and achieves the utmost elegance and decorum in her toilet; the other devotes all her wit and wealth to "out-Herod Herod" in extravagance and display, and thinks nothing of putting a hundred francs upon her back.

OUR LADIES IMITATE PARIS COURTEZANS.

It is this class that the fashionable women of New York are so passionately eager to imitate, and, if possible to outvie. These are the pretty empty heads who call themselves conservatives, forsooth! and who yet live so fast that they have no centripetal force left in them, but are all outsides, and may vanish any minute into centrifugal nonentity. They affect high morals, nevertheless—taking Hamlet's advice to his mother in this regard, when he tells her to "assume virtue though she has it not"—and this is the sum and substance of their conscience. They like, however, to be esteemed by their set as "proper women," and hence they "run a-muck" of all the great social reforms of the time, abhor what they call the "manly women"—women, that is to say, whose intellects are too big to let them submit to the slavery of society, who knowing their own strength and rights as citizens of the Republic, will live free and untrammeled lives, and demand that they shall have equal recognition with men in all the departments of society and governments. These women are the strangest of all strange contradictions; for they are shams and falsehoods incarnate, and if they were not they would adjudge themselves, and would be adjudged by society, as the lowest and vulgarest set of people. Dress with them is both morals and religion; and now we will try and enlighten our country cousins—nay, some of our most knowing New Yorkers, it may be—by entering the boudoir of one of these pretty fashionables and seeing how she justifies her falsehood by her "make-up."

HOW THESE WOMEN "MAKE-UP."

We premise that a fashionable woman in a state of nature is no more than any other woman—often not a tithe as beautiful as many thousands of other women—although she does look so like Juno and Hebe and Venus and the rest of the pretty goddesses when she has put on her set-offs, and goes blazing with jewels into society. It is dreadful for a bachelor to think what humbugs these women are. Here is a lady of questionable age—say twenty-seven; she is in her morning-wrapper, although it is past high noon, and she is going to a great evening party. She looks into the glass and sees there a yellow, brow-wrinkled, dull-eyed face; a mouth full of gums, and no teeth; in-falling cheeks; thin, doleful hair; neck no more like the "Tower of Lebanon" than I like Hercules, but thin, scraggy and not to be named where beauty is. The sight is anything but agreeable, and the cost of remedying it is very expensive; and she wishes she were really the pretty, gay woman that she is taken for in the glare of the chandeliers.

GOES TO THE TURKISH BATH.

But, as wishing avails nothing, she rings the bell, orders her carriage, and drives to the Turkish baths. Here she is boiled for half an hour in steam, and when well done she is douched with cold water until her skin assumes something like the glow and color of health. In another hour—after dressing, and then drinking a cup of coffee and smoking a cigarette, as she lay at full length upon a tempting sofa, she resumes her seat in the carriage, and then drives to No. —— Broadway, "where that handsome chiropodist's store is, who enamels us so beautifully;" and in a few minutes she is in the presence of this nice young man, whom she hails of course as an old and most intimate friend, who knows her exteriors, even the most sacred of them, like a book. She has come this time, as she informs him, to be done thoroughly! It is such a nuisance, she says, to be compelled to go through all that weary process of enameling once a week; and so she has made up her mind to have her face and bust done for six months. There is a good deal of chaffering about the price. Our handsome chiropodist insists upon his full fee of three hundred dollars. If the lady had been pretty, why he would have thrown off something for the pleasure it would give him to make her still prettier; but as this particular lady is anything but good looking, he will not abate a dime of his charge.

THE MAN WHO ENAMELS THE LADY.

So my lady agrees, and retires into an elegant parlor, where there are long, large mirrors set into the walls, with an easy chair opposite the largest of them, and in a position where the light is fullest. As there is no need of any display of modesty in this purely business affair, she unrobes herself to the waist, regardless of the gentleman artist's presence; and gets him to help her, first of all, to weed out of her productive skin the stubble of hair which has shot up since the last weeding time, which done, the superfluous hair are plucked out by the roots; and then she clips the soft hair around the temples and forehead, to give to the latter an arched appearance, and, not being quite satisfied with her handiwork, she gets her gentleman, whose hands drop with perfumes, to shave over the parts where she has been with her scissors.

NECK, ARMS, SHOULDERS AND BUST.

All being now ready, the serious business begins. The artiste applies a very powerful magnifying glass to all the beauties of her face, neck, arms, shoulders and—alack! alack! her bust, also, down to the waist! If he find any hair there or gossamer fuzz, he exercises it with washes, soaps, liniments or tweezers. Strange to say, the artist's hand very rarely trembles over his work—he is not afflicted by any shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart or shivering of the nerves; and it seems to us that he must be a particularly enameled man himself, with a cuticle as thick as a rhinoceros' hide, or that he is a wax man, and has no flesh and blood in his composition. All being now ready, he begins to overlay the skin that nature gave to her with a skin of his own composing. He applies the enamel to her yellow face, and then to her bust. The enamel consists chiefly of white lead or arsenic, made into a semi-liquid paste. It requires a good deal of skill to lay it on so that it shall be smooth, and not wrinkled; and two or three hours, and sometimes a much longer time, are consumed in making a good job of it.

A THREE HUNDRED DOLLAR JOB.

In this instance the lady was very exacting, for she had to pay three hundred dollars for the artist's work, and it was a long time before she was completely satisfied. But presently she rose from her making-place in all the glory of her regenerated body, and again looking into the glass she beheld a vision of such surprising loveliness—compared with the old body underneath the arsenic cuticle that she fell upon the artist's neck and kissed him in the exuberance of her gratitude.

PLUMPERS FOR THE CHEEKS.

There yet remained, however, the finishing touches and adjuncts of head-gear and cheek-gear! So down she sat again, and he, with his pigment of India ink and pencil of camel-hair, painted her eyebrows divinely. Then her cheeks were inlaid with "plumpers," which she brought with her, and which cost her twenty-five dollars. They are made into pads, and composed of a hard substance, which combines various chemical materials. After the cheeks were thus made to look like a girl's cheeks, they were carmined with a vegetable liquid rogue, laid on with a hare's foot. The finale of the make up, so far as the nakedness is concerned, is the adjustment of the teeth, which, when properly set, give the mouth a lustre as of opals, and which a pair of cherry-ripe red lips would increase vastly by the contrast they would present to the eye.

PATENT HEAVERS AS SHAM BOSOM.

My lady now dresses herself, and with a chuckle of deep satisfaction, as she thinks of the conquests she will make in the evening in the glare of the lamps and wax candles and gas. But her make-up is not yet half complete. She has a bust as white as alabaster, with shoulders and arms to match, and warranted to "stand" firm for six months if she does not die before of checked perspiration and an unclean skin for in all that time she must be debarred from washing herself and from the bath, which last, to most women is so luxurious a pleasure. What, however, is the good of a white bust if there be no lilies and rosebuds grown upon its flat exterior? She is well aware of this, and tells the artist what she wants, who immediately fixes her up with a pair of "patent heavers," which are rubber bags, of a beautiful lemon shape, blown out with wind as an air cushion is, and in this state they are secured upon the natural plane of the sacred locality and the woman is complete so far. These shams cost from five to ten and fifteen dollars each, and are a Bowery manufacture, where other very curious things are made.

PADDED, LEGGED, HANDED, DONE.

But the lady before us has ugly arms also—and these are made plump and round by paddings of wool and cotton, which is the work, however, of the dressmaker. She wore, when dressed, a corset of steel, padded about the waist and hips: and our artist, before his work was quite concluded, had to deal with the lady's extremities and give her a pair of false calves—a most dangerous operation. The make up was continued by a piece of artistry which occupied nearly an hour to finish. This consisted in painting the hands white and the veins blue, and then powdering them. The nails were also trimmed and colored; and then came the adornments of the chignon, and the long curls.

We must stop, however, for this week. We happen to be posted in all the ins and outs of toilet-making as it obtains in New York fashionable life, and we shall return to this shocking subject before long.—Woodhull & Claffin's Weekly.

GRADY the murderer, who was executed in Washington recently, held this brief conversation on the day before:

"Look here," said he, "I want to get out of this; I want to go on the scaffold. I told my father and sister so the other day. They don't want me to die. but every time I see them I feel more like it. They know and say that people will call them Grady's father and sister, but I can't help that now."

"Nobody to blame but yourself, have you?"

"Yes, sir, another; a friend at times, and again an enemy. I'll tell you frankly how it is. His name is whisky. I can't say I did the deed, nor can I deny it, because I was oblivious from the effects of liquor."

To this not much could be added that any person of conscience will not supply.

QUITE JUST.—Doctor F——, who was president of a Southern college, professed to be very grammatical in the use of his language, and therefore expected his pupils to be likewise. Playing cards was strictly forbidden on the premises; but, as is always the case, this law was often violated without being detected. A number of freshmen collected together in one of their number's room, and were enjoying a good game of euchre, when a knock was heard at the door.

"Who's there?" one exclaimed.

"Me!" was the laconic reply.

"Who's me!"

"Professor F——!"

"You lie! Ha, ha, ha! Professor F—— wouldn't say 'me,' he'd say 'It is I, sir.'"

The old professor turned his back, and went off, knowing that they had him there.

A lady in the first society of Paris recently dismissed her nurse on account of an excess of firemen and private soldiers too often repeated. After choosing as a successor to this criminal a very pretty girl, the lady, after explaining why the first went away, enjoined it on the second not to do likewise. She admitted that she shouldn't. "I can endure a good deal," said the lady, "but soldiers in the kitchen I won't endure." After a week or eight days, the lady came one morning into the kitchen, opened the cupboard, and discovered a youthful military character. "O, ma'am" cried the girl, frightened, "I give you my word I never saw that soldier before in my life. He must have been one of the old ones left over by the other girl!"

THE late Dr. Jenner, having discontinued his professional visits to a patient on account of her improved condition, sent a couple of ducks to the mother of the convalescent lady, accompanying the present with the following note:

I've dispatched my dear madam, this scrap of a letter,
To say that Miss Lucy is very much better;
A regular doctor no longer she lacks,
And therefore I've sent her a couple of quacks.

The lady addressed, returned thanks with this:

"Yes 'twas polite, truly, my very good friend,
Thus a 'couple of quacks' to your patient to send:
Since there's nothing so likely as 'quacks,' it is plain.
To make work for 'a regular' doctor again."

AN inveterate tobacco chewer was in the habit of declaring about once a month that he would "never chew another piece," but broke his pledge as often as he made it. On one occasion, shortly after he had "broken off for good," he was seen taking another chew. "Why," said his friend, "you told me you had given up that habit; but I see you are at it again." "Yes," he replied, "I have gone to chewing, and left off lying."

A LADY in Fond du Lac slipped on the ice and broke her leg, and the first remark she made after the accident was: "I wonder if Harry will marry me now?" How characteristic of a woman!

NATURE hath assigned two sovereign remedies for human grief: Religion, surest, firmest, first and best; strength to the weak, and to the wounded balm; and strenuous action next.—Southey.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

DR. PIERCE'S ALT.-EXT. OR GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Natura's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, Syphilitic and Venerial Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald head, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine For "Liver Complaint," Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation, it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Government Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is Sold by Druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at his Chemical Laboratory 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Know all men by these presents. That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydrick to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITRE, Notary Public,
(L. S.) 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2d Avenue.

EXTRACTS FROM VARIOUS LETTERS.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvellous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears, and the noise has left."

"Send me two boxes, I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar, your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail."

I Have over 200 such Testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS,

And all erruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

RESTORES GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR, PROMOTES ITS GROWTH! AND IS A SPLENDID DRESSING. TRY ONE BOTTLE AND THICKEN UP THE THIN LOCKS!

Is the only perfected and scientifically prepared preparation of its kind ever offered to the public, and has no competitor in merit. By its use GRAY HAIR is soon restored to its original youthful color and brilliancy, which is so much admired by all. Persons whose hair is thin or falling out will, by the use of our Renewer, soon see its good effects, as, by its tonic and stimulating properties the hair glands will be incited and the hair grow thick and strong again. In cases of Baldness it will create a new growth unless the follicles are destroyed. It is cooling, and allays all itching and irritation of the scalp. It does not stain the skin as do dyes, but makes the scalp white and clean. As a DRESSING it is the best and most economical preparation in the world, as its effects last so much longer. Send for our Treatise on the hair, free to all, by mail.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

R. B. BARGER,.....PROPRIETOR

W. W. BROWN,.....EDITOR

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, April 12, 1871.

JOB WORK.—We are prepared to do all kinds of Job Work at the REPUBLICAN office. We are prepared to print the smallest cards, as well as the largest posters. We do our work well, and at the most reasonable rates. Our readers will remember that we obtained a Diploma from the County Fair last fall, for the best "Plain and Ornamental Printing." There is no establishment in the County can say as much. Bring, or send in your work. Give us a trial, and be convinced.

The Watchman of the 24th ult., copied the above, and then commented as follows:

Why? Because no other office in the county competed with you. Not because they couldn't compete with you, but because they didn't think about it till it was too late, and they didn't know before hand that you intended to put any specimens on exhibition. You got a diploma &c.

How simple and child like the above sounds. The Watchman declares that we got a diploma simply because no other office competed with us, not because they couldn't compete, but because they didn't think about it. Better for you Joe if you had remained silent. Does not every enterprising, successful business man or mechanic always think of his business, and seek every opportunity to inform the public in relation tion to that business? You admit that there was not enterprise sufficient in your office to make you think of placing any specimens of printing upon exhibition at the last county fair. What enterprising fellows you are! Then exclaim "we can compete, but we didn't. We would not compete because the Centre county Agricultural Society never offered any inducements to printers" &c. The love of money. A reward offered would have induced these enterprising fellows to have placed on exhibition some of their printing. Is not this the "ruling passion strong in death?" You did not compete, simply because you cannot compete with us, and you know it. You have no press in your office like the Gordon, and the design and finish of all your work, prove that you have neither the press nor the ability to compete with us. Hence our diploma.

FOR PROTECTION.

We are glad that the industry of the country can claim Mr. Alexander Caldwell, the newly elected U. S. Senator from Kansas, as their friend. At a banquet in Leavenworth, a few days since, he stated his political position pretty clearly as follows:

"I inherited from my father the prinples of the old Whig party, and when a boy had the honor to serve in the Mexican war under that gallant old soldier, General Scott, and to follow him in his triumphal march from Vera Oruz to the hall of Montazumas. It was with great pleasure that my vote was cast for him in 1852. Subsequently the dissolution of the Whig party took place, and in 1856 my vote was cast for John C. Fremont. I confess that I had not, at that time, as much admiration for the man as I had for the party he represented, being an organization pledged to resist the extension of slavery. Again in 1860 I had the honor to vote and work for that great and pure patriot, Abraham Lincoln. I am proud of my Republicanism. The Republican party, in my humble opinion, are we indebted for the preservation of our nationality. To it belongs the credit of having voted men and means to suppress the most gigantic rebellion ever organized against a government. To it four millions of freemen to day owe their liberty, and Republicans all over the world are indebted to that organization for the preservation of the freest and best government ever vouchsafed to man. And now that our glorious Union has been preserved, let us see to it that the life of this great nation is not again imperiled, either from foes without or traitors within. And let all unite in sustaining such measures as will best protect and develop the laboring and manufacturing interests of the whole country. Farmers' and Mechanics' Advocate.

TOO MUCH GRANT.—It is said that Joe Furey the associate editor of the Watchman, attended the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Sunday last; but left as soon as the morning prayer was over. He would not stay to hear the sermon. When asked why he left he said that Rev. Mullen had mixed in a little "too much Grant" with his prayer. Said Joe, Mr. Mullen several times repeated in his prayer the following phrase: "Grant, we beseech thee," and then said Joe, to cap the climax, he exclaimed in the exuberance of his soul, "Oh! Grant, to us, true and noble, high and honest." Said Joe, "I could stand it no longer so I left the church. We can not vouch for the truth of this; but are inclined to believe judging from the course persued in the past by these Watchmen editors, they hate everything that sounds like "Grant" because Grant with his boys in blue, whipped their favorite Rebel, General Lee. In the M. E. Church will way. Poor

ABOUT RAILROADS AND FARMERS.

During a business trip out on the Erie Railroad the other day, we were particularly impressed by the frequent announcement "Passengers change cars for the ——Railroad;" that is to say, every few miles there was some branch railway extending off from ten to a hundred miles or more into a rich valley, so that the whole southern part of the State, but recently almost an inaccessible wilderness, is now supplied with a net-work of railroads that branch off from the great trunk line like the limbs or roots of a tree. And this is the case with the various trunk roads leading from the Atlantic sea-board westward. Each one of these roads, by bringing the regions through which it passes nearer to a market, greatly increases the value of every acre of land, and every house, for a wide distance on each side. We doubt not that it could be demonstrated that there is hardly a region penetrated by a railroad where the real estate has not advanced enough to pay the entire expenses of the road. For illustration, suppose we estimate the cost of the railroads to average $31,680 per mile, or $6 per foot. If we confine the benefits to a strip 6¼ miles wide on each side, each foot of railway would then benefit 1½ acres, and if taxed upon the land would amount to $4 per acre. Is there a region penetrated by a railroad where the advance in real value has not been more than twice $4 per acre on the average?.....The annual interest on $4 we will call 30 cents.—That is equal to 2 cents per bushel on 15 bushels of wheat, or 1 cent per bushel on 30 bushels of corn; or 30 cents on a ton of hay, and so of other products. Is there a point reached by a railroad where the advance in the value of produce has not been many times greater than this? It would be nearer the mark to say that the advance in price is enough to pay for a new railroad every year. The inevitable conclusion is that railroads are of an inestimable value to the agricultural regions of our country, and we hail with pleasure every new railway enterprise, no matter where it is located.

As above stated, every great trunk railroad is the center or main artery of a wide system of branches. This is true of the N. Y. Central R. R. the Midland R. R., approaching completion, the N J. Central and Pennsylvania Central, and the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. And now we are soon to have still another further southward, the Chesapeake and Ohio R. R. which will have advantages of grade, climate, etc., even more favorable than any of the others. The construction is in rapid progress, and will be finished by the middle of next year. All of these trunk lines, aided by their many branches and their through business from the great West, have proved profitable at least their first mortgage bonds are, we believe, at par or above, and there is no doubt whatever that they will continue so. They furnish a safe, good interest-paying investment for any surplus funds. The Chesapeake and Ohio R. R. offers a comparatively moderate amount of bonds per mile, as stated in the advertisement of Messrs. Fisk & Hatch in another column, and these bonds are especially inviting to all who have money to invest.—American Agriculturist.

STATISTICS OF COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION.

From the monthly report of the Bureau of Statistics we learn that the imports of specie and bullion in 1870 were $25,664, 931; domestic exports, specie values, $66,096,317; and foreign exports of specie and bullion, $14,851,408; imports of merchandise, $461,115,087; domestic exports, $387,812,678; foreign, $15,805,708. For the year 1869, imports of merchandise, $438,535,994; domestic exports, $324,09,1533; foreign exports, $12,954,655. Imports of specie and bullion, $24,888,427; domestic exports, $40,467,417; foreign, $16,818,574.

The value of foreign commodities remaining in warehouse, December 31, 1870, was $55,626,635, as compared with $51,763,413 in 1869.

There is a marked improvement in the disproportion between imports and exports in the last as compared with the previous year; the excess of imports in 1869 being $68,692,422, and in 1870 only $2,214,493. Over 73 per cent. of our entire foreign trade in 1869, and over 79 per cent. in 1870, were carried in foreign vessels.

THE Washington (Pa.) Reporter says: It is a noteworthy fact, over which Washington has a right to feel proud, that the two rival candidates for the Speakership of the National House of Representatives are both natives of this place. Mr. Blaine and General Morgan were born and educated here, and their respective residences in this town were within a stone's throw of each other. It is a remarkable illustration of the mutations, as well as coincidences, of life that they appear in Congress together, one representing Maine and the other Ohio, and as competitors for the honor of presiding over that body.

PHILADELPHIA is growing wonderfully. The statistics of buildings erected during March, show that while there were 502 permits issued in March, 1870, the number of the month just passed reached 990. A new life and enterprise prevades every branch of industry.

For the REPUBLICAN.

WOMANS RIGHTS.

BY SHABY.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—This subject may not suit you. It may not, indeed, suit your readers; but I think that the women of this country have a right to be heard, and how can we get that hearing, only through the independent press. I know a great many people are opposed to, what they call the "Woman's rights Question;" but it is my opinion that this opposition comes from ignorance, prejudice, or want of reflection upon the question. This I think is all wrong and only ask a thinking community to reflect, and let woman have credit for her talents, her intelligence and her support of popular rights. Now, I argue that those who advocate this cause, do it from pure and honorable motives and not from sorded considerations, or corrupt purposes, and as we are called strong minded women, we are not women of words; but of deeds, not of resolutions, but of actions. History does not teach me that these women have ever consumed much time in conventions, and in passing Resolutions about their rights; but they have been very prompt to assert their rights, and to defend them too, and have always been willing to take the consequences of defeat for a time, hoping to come out victorious in the proper time.

A woman's true duty is, to dare to meet whatever position in life God has appointed to her, but the noblest courage of all, is to dare to meet one's self, face to face, and confront all those deeds, which may have influenced the mind or manners of society for good or evil. It is the moral fabric of the world, with which women must be content, an exceedingly narrow sphere of action indeed, but says one writer, it is her proper sphere, and with it she should be content. Whenever she steps aside from this to ask for political rights, she is made the target to be shot at by the most corrupt and cowardly of her own sex, and by the ill-natured and depraved of the opposite gender.

Daniel O'Connell once said that he was the best abused man in the world. Yet I do not think he was ever half so much abused, or so well abused as Miss Annie Dickenson, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Woodhull, one of the Editors and Proprietors of WOODHULLS and CLAFFLIN'S great paper, and a hundred more whom we might name, of the ladies who has taken a prominent stand in this good, and soon to be popular movement for the good of their own sex and for the improvement and advancement of the political condition of the men, so frequently called the sterner sex. When the women get into power, politics will put on a new garb. They will lay off the old sable garments of sin vice and corruption that our leaders have been wareing so long, especially the leaders in this county, until their robes have become as black as the robes of Saten himself, and we will prepare a new and pure garment made of white—the emblem of purity—and the mottoes of the robe, shall be temperance, religion and the elevation of the human race.

Genious has no sex. Look upon the pages of history and see how clearly this fact is proved. When women attack and defend fortifications, when they command armies and obtain victories, what do the men call it? I can point out hundreds of cases, in history, where women have performed the most gallent deeds, notwithstanding Horace Greely endeavors to blot out and confute this history. Horace is a good man and true, and I like his paper very much, yet for the life of me I cannot see why he opposes womans suffrage. He says women should not vote, unless they fight. Noble, high-minded, honorable Greely! If JEAN DE MONTFORT can do a better business at defending her DUCHY of Bretagne, with sword in hand than any man in her day, then let Horace Greely stop his criticisms, or at least labor to be just. Why, not let women, like men, do that for which nature and natures God has fitted them? Look at Margaret of Anjor the active and intrepid soldier and general whose genius supported for a long time a feeble husband and taught him finally how to conquer, replaced him upon a throne, from which he had fallen, and which he could never have regained only through the intrepidity of his wife. I could name a hundred more instances just as strong, if not stronger in proof of womens talents and prowess, but for the present I forbear. You may not have space. At a future time I will refer to this subject again. Suffice it to say, that I know some of the wisest and best men in the nation are in favor of our rights of our cause. With us we can number Henry Ward Beecher, himself a host, Hon. Benjamin Wade, the true and tried, and hundreds more that we might name, but time and space forbid.

THE Norther Pacific Railroad company has 443 miles of road in operation already and by fall will have 560 miles in running order. The grading is already finished to the eastern border of Dakota. Trains will run on it to the Red river of the north by September. Work has also been begun on the Pacific Side in the valley of the Columbia river.

MANUFACTURE OF BUTTONS.—The first manufacturer of buttons in this country was Samuel Williston. While he was dragging along as a country storekeeper—his eyes having failed him while studying for the ministry—his wife bethought her that she could cover by hand the wooden buttons of the time, and thus earn an honest penny. From this the couple advanced in their ambition until they had perfected machinery for covering buttons; the first employed for the purpose in this country. From this sprang an immense factory, and then others, until Samuel Williston made half the buttons of the world. His factories are still running at Easthampton, coining wealth for the proprietor, and known to every dealer in buttons the world over. He is now between seventy and eighty years of age, is worth five or six millions, and has given $400,000 to Easthampton for a seminary and for churches, $200,000 to South Hadley Female Seminary, and $200,000 to Amherst College, besides lesser gifts.—Scientific American.

JURUBEBA.

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver And Spleen, Enlargement Or Obstruction Of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, Or Abdominal Organs, Poverty Or A Want Of Blood, Intermittent Or Remittent Fevers, Inflammation Of The Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation Of The Blood, Abscesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague & Fever Or Their Concomitants

DR. WELLS having become aware of the extraordinary medicinal properties of the South American Plant, called sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful Plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicines now presented to the public as

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Penitrix in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubard and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

For Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Bilious Affections, Sick Or Nervous Headache, Costiveness Etc. Purely Vegetable, Containing No Mercury, Minerals Or Deleterious Drugs.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S

in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLB'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily cradicates Pimples Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restore the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. PRICE, ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

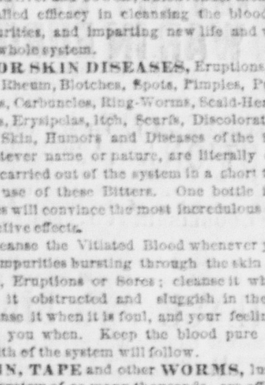
The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?



They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Methodism in America.

The Annual Conferences of the M. E. Church for the present year are of more than ordinary importance, as to them the question of lay representation is referred for final decision. The growth and strength of Methodism in America are of interest outside of all sectional considerations, as one of the waves which mark the progress of the great current of civilization and human progress. The most irreligious man, if he has an interest in the elevation of his brother man, must acknowledge that the Christian sects not only combine but make useful the weightiest portion of the intelligence and moral strength of the country, and, with all their differences, are the most powerful levers by which the mass of society is lifted—the more powerful, perhaps, because of these very differences. The sects are as idiosyncratic as individuals. The churches, we are told, are the doors to Truth, and, while Truth is unchangeable, it is certainly expedient that the entrances to her secret places should be made to fit and accommodate men of every grade of culture and temperament. Emerson calls the Church of England the church of good taste; and an outsider, following out the fancy, might assert that to the Presbyterian belonged logic, and, naturally, those men and women whose religion must be safely grounded on a Q. E. D., while to the Methodist is assigned pre-eminently emotional piety.

There is something in the creed and history of this latter church, but still more in their manner of teaching, which appeals directly to the feelings of the lower and middle classes. The primary fact that they took their rise in a vigorous and righteous protest against the effeteness and inertia of an aristocratic establishment appeals to the drop of Democratic blood in every man who thinks that social fate has wronged him; the enforced poverty of their ministers, the system of itinerancy, their favorite mode of passionate address, in which the priest forces the sinner, as it were, into actual personal contact with his Maker, all make this sect the exponent and respectacle of the great mass of the people, and for this cause render it worthy the attention and scrutiny of the unbiased thinker. There are curious anomalies in its structure which he will notice; and chief among these is the fact that while it calls the weakest and poorest of its members to share in its spiritual work, its government is more aristocratic than that of any Protestant Church. It is this defect, if defect it be, which the proposed movements in favor of lay representation is designed to remove. Owing, perhaps, to this absorption of all its members in its work, no other church, probably, deals so promptly and closely face to face with all the great political and social problems of the day, as well as with the living vices. It fights no dead Satans. When, in 1766, the Palestines, Philip Embury and Barbara Heck, tore to pieces the pack of cards and preached against gambling in this city to a congregation of four people, they laid the foundation of American Methodism. Four years ago the Centenary was celebrated, and the Church reported 12,000 ministers religiously trainging 7,800,000 souls; yet she is unaltered in her great characteristics since the days of Embury.

We perceive, however, that a strong effort is making in the recent conferences by her leading men to throw the weight of her influences into forcing the education of her members, and in consequence to lessen the number of costly church edifices. A university which should adequately represent her more cultured class, and a number of thorough academies for the training of boys, would serve her purpose better than a host of incomplete colleges.—Whatever movement is made by this powerful religious body will be regarded with interest by any man who feels the urgent need of purification and civilization among the masses of our lower semi-barbarous population.—Whatever may be our opinion of the doctrinal creed of the Methodist, there are a zeal and a fervor in his attack on the strongholds of vice that win the hearty approbation of every thinking man, and prompt him to offer to him, in his own language, the right hand of fellowship.

"WHY are you always out, my love?" said a disconsolate Benedict to his erratic spouse: "are we not one?" "To be sure we are," said the lady, pettishly, "and I hate solitude."

LOVE is the shadow of the morning which decreases as the day advances: Friendship is the shadow of the evening which strengthens with the setting sun of life.—La Fontaine.

GOD draweth straight lines, but we think and call them crooked.

HOME NEWS.

SECURE your seats for the 19th.

REMOVED.—The Law office of Wm. P. Wilson has been removed to the splendid rooms in Mrs. Benner's brick building on the South corner of the Diamond.

REV. PENNELL COMBE, of Philadelphia, lectured on the subject of Temperance, in the M. E. Church, at Beech Creek, on Monday evening last, to a large audience.

WE are happy to learn that Scott Miles, who was so seriously injured while in the act of loading lumber at Port Matilda, some five months since, has so far recovered as to be able to use his limb again.—Blade.

WE are in receipt of a new daily, The Progress, published at South Bethlehem, Pa. It is a five column paper, and presents a very creditable appearance. It is independent in politics. Financially, we wish it abundant success.

REMOVAL.—John D. Wingate, D. D. S., now occupies rooms directly over the store of Harper Bro's., a few doors North of his former residence. Sets of teeth inserted for as low as $10,00. Particular attention given to the preservation of the natural teeth. Call and see.

M. J. WILLIAMS, of Martha Furnace, in passing through his sugar camp the other day, discovered that some of his troughs were missing. After diligent search for the lost treasure, he found several small piles of kindling wood. Boys, be careful, mischief sometimes brings trouble.—Blade.

JOHN POWERS, at his Boot & Shoe store, in McClain's Block continues to keep constantly on hand a large assortment of Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c., which will be sold at very low prices. Mr. Powers is one of the very best workmen in this section is a clever and accommodating business man, and will do his utmost to please all who may favor him with their custom. Give him a trial and be convinced.

FIRE.—Saturday night last, the dwelling house of Jacob Barlot, with nearly all his furniture was consumed by fire. Mr. Barlot lived in what, we believe, is called Coleville, a short distance west of the Fair grounds. To be burned out of house and home is, indeed, a sad calamity; but there is always some consolation in being insured. We have not learned the full amount of Mr. Barlot's insurance, but rumor places it at $700. Every property owner should be insured in some good company.

AN accident occurred at the saw-mill of Messrs. Hoover, Harris & Co., near this place, on Monday, by which, as our informant said, nobody was hurt—but many men badly scared. While running at full speed, in the midst of a log, the circular saw bursted and flew around in a manner anything but agreeable to those in proximity, and tearing up things generally. The mill is now stopped and will so remain until the arrival of a new guide. It is fortunate that no one received any injury, but the saw is a loss of several hundred dollars to the firm.—Philipsburg Journal.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—Mark G. Williams, of Bald Eagle Valley, while in the act of hauling plank on a tram road, was overtaken by a whirlwind, which blew the plank from the truck, several of which fell on his legs below the knees fracturing the bones.

—O. Baumgardner, son of D. Baumgardner, who in company with his brother, was playing with a hatchet, had his second finger on the right hand cut off, all but part of the skin.

—Aaron Meyers, while attending a sale at Mr. Adams, was kicked by a horse—the injury sustained was not as serious as at first anticipated.

—Henry Hoover, of Julian, was injured to some extent, in the act of carrying some heavy pieces of lumber.—Tyrone Blade.

PUNCTUALITY.—We chronicled the burning of the barn belonging to M. P. Weaver, Esq., in our paper of march the 8th. The fire occurred on Wednesday night March 1st. The barn was insured for the sum of $2,500 in the "Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Middle Pennsylvania," represented in this county by Mr. C. R. Gearhart. In our notice of the fire, we used this language, "We will see how punctual they will be in adjusting and paying Mr. Weaver his claim." It is now but a little over one month since the fire, and we are happy to state that the claim of Mr. Weaver has been adjusted, to the amount of $2,250. This is business. It is more, it is punctuality in business. We congratulate our friend M. P. Weaver, on the good sense manifested by him in choosing so excellent a company, and it is with pleasure we recommend the same company to the farmers of this county.

HAVE you a ticket for the 19th?

(COMMUNICATED.)

On the 28th of March, after a short but painful illness, Frances E. M. Twitmire, aged 12 years, 4 months and 7 days.

Only a short time ago, and she who is the subject of this brief notice was with us, full of life and animation. The elastic step and beaming eye gave promise of long life—of many years in which to enjoy the comforts of a peaceful, happy home. She was a child of more than ordinary culture of mind and heart—possessing elements of character seldom found in one so young. Indeed it may be said of her that she was old, beyond her years. In her intercourse with her companions she was kind, considerate and truthful; and in the sphere of her own home—in her place at the old fire-side—her daily life was a ceaseless and most beautiful expression of filial love. Under the influence and christian teachings of pious parents, her heart was early educated in the principles of our holy religion, and guided in the way to the cross. When disease fastened upon her, she evidenced in the midst of keenest, protracted suffering, a sweet spirit of submission to her Heavenly Father's will; and when death called she passed away from her pillow of pain, leaving a testimony that proved how peacefully a christian can die. She died young, but she died well; because she slept in the arms of Jesus. She passed from the uncertainties of time to the eternal realities of heaven. Her sun went down without a cloud; throwing back a light to gild the path over which she traveled home,—the light of an exemplary life, made doubly beautiful by the christian's peaceful death. She has gone; but the hearts that are mourning her absence to-day, are cheered with the sweet thought that she has gone to be with God. Henceforth and forever, her rest shall be near the Throne. O, what raptures thrill her bosom now! What glories flash around her brow! Happy one, farewell until we meet beyond the river. Farewell, until we pass to the other shore! when, if we die as thou hast died, we shall meet again.

"The head that once was racked with pain,
Is crowned with glory now:
A royal diadem adorns
Our happy sister's brow."

ADVICE TO GIRLS.—Somebody gives the following advice to girls. It is worth volumes of fiction and sentimentalism. Men who are worth having, want women for wives. A bundle of gewgaws, bound with strings of flats, and quivers, sprinkled with cologne and set in a carmine saucer—this is no help for a man who expects to raise a family of boys on bread and meat. The piano and lace frames are good in their places, and so are ribbons, frills and tinsels; but you cannot make a dinner of the former, nor a bed of the latter—and awful as such an idea may seem to you, both dinner and bed blankets are necessary to domestic happiness. Life has its realities as well as fancies, but you make it all decorations, remembering the tassels and curtains, but forgetting the bedstead. Suppose a man of good sense and, of course, good prospects, to be looking for a wife, what chance have you to be chosen? You may cap him, or you may trap him, but how much better to make it an object for him to catch you. Render yourself worth catching, and you need no shrewd mother or brother to help you find a market.

F. P. GREENE, at his Salesroom in Mrs. Irvins Building on Allegheny St., Keeps constantly on hand, the two Sewing Machines which experience has shown to be the most useful in making the "shuttle stitch" and the "Grover & Baker stitch," in various styles, reasonable prices and easy terms. He invites all who feel any interest or curiosity in the art of sewing by machinery, whether intending to purchase or not, to call at his salesroom and familiarize themselves with both classes of machines and their relative merits, by personal examination, and sewing any articles they desire upon them. Such visitors are always welcome and their visits regarded as favors.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Sam'l Derr, a soldier of the late war, disappeared from his home on the Mineral Spring road about one month ago, and has not since been heard of. He served during the whole of the rebellion, and at the close became paralyzed in the right side and speechless, and has remained so ever since. He is about 30 years of age, is 5 feet 7 inches in height, has sandy hair and light complexion. Any information of his whereabouts will be thankfully received by his uncle, Chas Breneiser, corner 7th and Penn streets, Reading, and newspapers generally are requested to make a note of his disappearance.

MESSRS. KELLER & MUSSER, on Bishop street, have just opened one of the largest and finest assortments of Spring and Summer goods ever brought to Bellefonte. Their stock has all been selected with great care, therefore, when you buy goods of them you get a first class article, and prices to suit the times. They also keep on hand a large supply of choice Groceries. Country produce taken in exchange for goods, grain of all kinds bought at the highest market price. Call and examine their stock.

WEALTH.—One great cause of poverty of the present day, is the failure of the people to appreciate small things—they say that if they cannot save large sums, they will not save anything. They do not realize how a daily addition, be it ever so small will soon make a large pile; if the young men and young women of to-day will only begin, and begin now, to save a little from their earnings, and plant in the soil of some good savings bank, and weekly or monthly add to their mite they will wear a happy smile of competence and independence when they reach middle life. Not only the pile itself will increase, but the desire and ability to increase it will soon grow. Let the clerk and tradesman, laborer and artisan, make now and at once a beginning. Store up some of youthful force and vigor for future contingencies. Let parents teach their children to begin early to save. Begin at the fountain head to control the stream of extravagance, and then the work will be easy to choose between poverty and riches. Let our youth go on in the habits of extravagance for fifteen years to come as they have for fifty years past, and we shall be a nation of beggars with a monied aristocracy. Let a generation of such as save in small sums be reared and we shall be free from want. Do not be ambitious for extravagant fortunes, but seek that which it is the duty of every man to obtain—independence and a comfortable home. Wealth and enough is within the reach of all. It is obtainable by one process, and one only—saving.

REYNOLDS' Hall, 19th.

HOW TO KEEP CANARY BIRDS.—Many persons have difficulty in keeping canary birds in good health. One who is experienced in their care says: Place the cage so that no draft or air can strike the bird; give nothing to healthy birds but canary and rape seed, mixed with water, cuttle fish bone, and gravel on the floor of the cage; also, occasionally, a little water for bathing; the room should never be over-heated: when moulting (shedding feathers) avoid drafts of air; give plenty of rape seed slightly moistened; a little hard boiled egg, and cracker grated fine is excellent; by observing these simple directions, birds may be kept in fine condition for years. Bad seed kills most of the birds that die; to which it might have been added, that canary birds are not only fond of it, but benefited by having a leaf of cabbage, piece of apple, or green food, which serves to keep down the tendency to fever and prevents constipation. Our birds usually bathe each day as regularly as any one washes the face, and with apparent benefit, too. When birds are sick, and inclined not to eat well, remove all the food for a day, and then only give soaked bread, from which most of the moisture has been squeezed.

MISS ANNA DICKINSON, on "Joan D'Arc," 19th.

FASHIONABLE WEDDINGS.—It is said that the latest fashion in engagements is to give no ring or presents of any kind to the lady, and the wedding to be quiet and plain, only the relatives being present, and the bride's dress very plain and simple. It is quite time that a reaction should take place from the prevailing extravagance of fashionable wedding. At the rate things have been going on, it is fast becoming impossible for any but a millionaire to marry. Couples, without a dollar to begin housekeeping with, are set out with silver services, gold and jewelry, by the mistaken prodigality of friends, while the kitchen is bare of indispensable utensils! There is usually a woeful falling off from this brilliant beginning. It is quite time for young folks to begin at the other end of married life, and set out with a programme they can carry out.

MUSIC.—Hitchcock's musical monthly magazine, is one of the best publications of the kind issued in the United States. We have received the April number. It contains several excellent pieces, among which we notice a few entitled "The Sailors Life for Me," "Cornina Waltz," "Beautiful Moon" &c. Every lover of music should subscribe for it at once. Address Hitchcock's monthly, No. 24 Beekman street, N. Y.

THE public will be gratified to learn that Miss Anna Dickinson will deliver her lecture in Reynolds' Hall, on Wednesday evening, April 19th, 1871, subject: "Joan D'Arc."

A large audience is expected as special trains from other towns will be chartered for the occasion; therefore all desirous of hearing her will do well to secure reserved seats as soon as possible.

A PRINTER LOST.—John P. Nolan, aged twenty-two, and a printer by profession having been absent from his home, in Bellefonte, near two years, and nothing having been heard from him by his mother during that time, has caused her great uneasiness. Last heard from him he was in Corry. Any information concerning him addressed to T. B. Nolan, Washington, D. C., will be thankfully received.

THE GENERAL LICENSE LAW.—The following are the principal requirements of the general license law of the State, the publication of which may be of use to persons wishing to engage in the hotel or restaurant business:

Every person applying for license to keep a hotel, inn or tavern, or eating house, shall file a petition with a certificate signed by at least twelve reputable citizens of the ward, borough or township in which such tavern is proposed to be kept, setting forth that the same is necessary to accomodate the public and entertain strangers or travelers, and that such person is of good repute for honesty and temperance and is well provided with house room and conveniences for the accommodation of strangers and travelers.

No person shall be licensed to keep a hotel or tavern in any city or country town which shall not have for the exclusive use of travelers, at least four bed rooms and eight beds, nor in any other part of the State without at least two bed rooms and four beds for such use.

Persons before receiving license shall give bonds conditioned for the faithful observance of all the laws relating to the business of the obligor and a warrant of attorney to confess judgment—the district attorney to enter judgment and institute suit thereon whenever the obligor violates his bond.

No court shall license any inn or tavern which shall not be necessary to accommodate the public and entertain strangers and travelers.

ANNA DICKINSON on the 19th.

OUR SCHOOLS.—The Pennsylvania School Journal contains the following in regard to the Schools of our county. It says:—Superintendent Magee, of Centre, sends us some specimens of map drawing executed in the public schools and picked up in his visitations. They are really very creditable. He says: "Map-drawing is taught in nearly all our schools in connection with Geography." "The same is the case," he adds, "with the study of Physiology."

Centre is making wonderful progress in the matter of improving the character of her instruction, as may be seen from the following statement taken from the annual report:

During the year 1870 2,392 pupils studied grammar, being an increase of 658 over last year: descriptive geography, 3,050, an increase of 836 over last year; history, United States, 2,015, an increase of 1,215 over last year; mental arithmetic, 6,498, an increase of 1,582 over last year; written arithmetic, 5,815, an increase of 1,480 over last year; map drawing, 1,962, an increase of 1,884 over last year; writing was taught to 5,550; composition, 2,987; physiology, 2,473; natural philosophy, 55; algebra, 157; physical geography, 200; phonetic spelling, 4,392; 6,003 practiced singing daily; in some schools vocal music was taught as a regular study.

ANNA DICKINSON, at Reynolds' Hall, on the 19th.

THE members of the Second Presbyterian congregation of this city, at a meeting in their church on Sunday evening last, resolved to call a pastor, and, we believe, designated the Rev. Mr. Gibson as their choice. Mr. Gibson, while sojourning a few weeks with the family of his brother-in-law, Rev. Mr. Crittenden, in this place, preached a series of sermons here, which impressed his hearers very favorably as to his abilities, and those who met him in social intercourse were equally won by the ease, affability and refinement of his manners. He is a man of undoubted talents, piety and culture, and if the Second Church should be so fortunate as to secure him as its pastor, it can not fail to become an agency of great usefulness in this community.—Clinton Republican.

LIBERAL BEQUESTS.—We find the following in the Clearfield Republican: Solomon Hammerschlag, an old citizen, and well known to many of our readers in the eastern end of the county, died in Osceola, on Thursday last, at an advanced age. He was a German by birth and we believe has no kindred in this country. His property is valued at about $12,000, which he disposed by will as follows: $500 in gold to each of five nieces residing in Prussia, and $500 to a Hebrew Hospital in Philadelphia, a valuable house and lot situate in the borough of Osceola to the Brotherhood of Masons; also, a house and lot each, to the poor and public schools of Osceola, a house and lot each to the poor and public schools of Decatur township, and $200 to a Mrs. Crowell.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Of Edward Mitchel (printer,) aged twenty-eight, who left his home in Somerset. Pennsylvania, about ten years ago. When last heard from, about three years since, his address was corner Centre and White streets, New York. Any information in regard to him will be thankfully received by his father, C. F. Mitchel, Greensburg. The newspapers throughout the country will confer a lasting favor upon an old printer by giving the above notice conspicuous publicity.

GIVE US NOTICE.—Subscribers to the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN who intend to change their place of residence, should not fail to notify us where they wish their papers sent after April 1st. It will save us trouble if you will give us the name of your present Post Office, as well as the name of the office to which you desire the paper sent in future.

REPORT of Marsh Creek School, for the month ending March, 29th 1871, J. L. Butler, Teacher. Whole number in attendance, 70; average of attendance for month, 57; per cent of attendance for month, 82; spelling 70; reading, 58; writing, 58; mental arithmetic, 70; written arithmetic, 47; geography, 23; grammar, 12; composition, 40; declamation, 30; U. S. history, 6; vocal music and scripture exercises daily; physiology tri-weekly, orally.

The following is a correct list of the number of words missed in spelling 3,000 words in Sander's Union Speller, commencing on page 73, class A:

Ella E. Heaton, none; Wm. T. Fetzer, 5; Wm. H. F. Pownell, 3; Lucy Poorman, 6; Elizabeth E. Yarnell, 2; Martha J. Confair, 15; Sarah J. Butler, 8; Harris S. Walker, 5; Amanda Poorman, 1; Wm. C. Williams, 12; Sarah A. Shank, 3; Eliza A. Walker, 2; Susan C. Butler, 2.

The term closing with this day, the school was visited by about 35 of the different citizens, male and female. After enjoying quite a pleasant time, hearing the scholars recite their essays and declamations, the rewards of merit were distributed, and the school closed with these few brief remarks: Well, scholars, the time of our separation has come, and I must say, I thank you kindly, and sincerely thank you for the manifestation and kindness you have bestowed upon me during the past two school terms, and in return, I have done my uttermost to forward and advance you in the studies you have been pursuing. I have removed obstacles, where obstacles impeded your progress, I have corrected you when in error, and tried to cheer you when discouraged. I have told you of the bright reward of knowledge and virtue, and of the fearful recompense of ignorance and vice. But with this day it may close forever. You shall no longer sit on those seats and listen to the voice that bids you be wise, you shall no more sport together on the noisy green or wander in the silent grove, other scenes, other societies, other persuits await us. We must part, but parting, I trust shall only draw closer the ties that bind us, the rising of the sun, and the setting of the same, which have so often witnessed our social intimacies and joys, shall still remind us of the scenes that are past, and while we live on earth may we cherish a grateful remembrance of each other, and in Heaven may our friendship be purified and perpetuated. And now to all, I bid you a reluctant and affectionate farewell.

THE CHOICE OF WIVES.—Wives are not selected on account of their dress or ornaments in one case out of ten. Brilliant dress and jewels attract attention, and brainless fops and dandies flutter about the young women who make the greatest display, anxious for the excitement and notoriety which a flirtation affords. But there is no love in their hearts, and no marriage in their intentions, unless the splendid costume covers more wealth than work. Serious-minded, sensible young men look with suspicion upon the girl who is expensively and showily dressed. They count the cost of that sort of display. They ask themselves whether they can afford to clothe and adorn a wife in an equally costly style. How a man with a salary of $1500 per year can maintain a wife whom it costs $1000 per year to dress, is a problem they are not mathematicians enough to solve. They question whether a woman who has a passion for a showy dress and costly jewelry can have the intelligence, the seriousness of heart, the interest in common things, the deep and abiding affection, which fit one for a life companion.

A LITTLE fellow named Samuel Mashman, residing in Juniata county, was poisoned by eating a root which he supposed to be sweet myrrh. Medical aid was summoned, and although the boy still lives, he shows symptoms of insanity.

We clipped the above from one of our exchanges a few days ago. It will serve as a warning to all persons disposed to dig up and chew roots, and especially the familiar one known as Sweet Myrrh. The Sweet Myrrh is a harmless root, but the Poison Hemlock, a most active and virulent poison, so nearly resembles it in the appearance of both top and root as to deceive many persons not familiar with both. Where both plants grow, frequent cases of poisoning occur generally causing death. The safe plan is to leave both alone and thereby avoid danger.

NEW GOODS.—Our enterprising young friend Jacob D. Miller, who recently sold out his book store, to engage in the mercantile business at Pleasant Gap, returned from the city last week, where he purchased the largest stock of Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes &c., ever brought to pleasant Gap. He also proposes to sell these goods cheaper for cash than any ever offered at that place. Mr. Miller is an energetic industrious and honest man, and deserves the patronage of the public. It is a great advantage for the people of that place and vicinity to have a store near their own doors, and in view of this fact they should see that Mr. Miller is encouraged and well supported. We wish him abundant success.

IMPORTANT LETTER.—The following letter has come into our hands, and we publish it for the information of those who doubt the purity of Speer's Wine.

This is to certify that Mr. Alfred Speer is a resident of this village, and to my personal knowledge, has devoted a number of years to the manufacture of pure and valuable wine. He has a large vineyard in view of my residence, and has been for some time engaged in cultivating the Port Grape. The Port Grape Wine cannot be excelled by any American wine. It is bottled by Mr. Speer every season in large quantities, but not disposed of until it attains the age of four years.

Passaic, Oct. 20th 1865.

D. B. SICKLES,
Central National Bank, New York.

Some of our druggists have this wine direct from the vineyard.

A Cold neglected, frequently lays the foundation of uncurable consumption. No person should suffer one to continue. True, they will "wear out," but they often wear the patient out. The best cure is HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC COUGH AND FEVER PILLS. Taken alternately, they allay the fever, irritation, and cough, heal up the lungs, and cure the disease. Price, 6 boxes for $1,25 Sold by dealers, and sent by mail on receipt of the price. Address, HUMPHREY'S SPECIFIC HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINE Co. 562 Broadway, N. Y.

PALSIED AND KILLED.—In Nittany Valley, about a quarter of a mile from Clintonville, Clinton county, lived David Barner. A few days since he went out to his stable to see about his horses, and whilst among them he was palsied, falling down between them. When he was discovered, his friends were shocked to behold him in great agony, the horses having trampled upon him and injured his skull so that he died in a short time afterward.—Lycoming Standard.

PAY UP.—We have on our books for subscription, job work and advertising, over three thousand dollars ranging in amounts from $2 to $30, and we want it. Of course this does not refer to those who have paid up. Good pay, and a good paper must and will follow. Fact gentlemen. Do not wait for the April court. Come now, or send it by mail. But if not sooner do not fail to call with the needful at the April court.

MILLINERY.—Miss Annie Finn, will open during the third week in April, at Pine Grove Mills, a fine assortment of millinery goods, consisting of hats, bonnets, ribbons, flowers, &c.. all of the latest styles. Her goods have been selected with care, and she requests the ladies of Pine Grove and vicinity to call and examine her goods, feeling sure they will give satisfaction, both as to quality and price. 14-21.
